

Plan Field Day For August 31

The Arlington Heights Park Board Recreation commission has selected Sunday, August 31, as the date for their first Children's Field Day. As a part of the plan to make supervised recreation available to all the children of the community, the Recreation Commission is sponsoring this field day. They have chosen this method of illustrating to the parents of Arlington Heights the results that have been accomplished during this first season and to show the types of recreational facilities which they hope to offer each summer.

The members of the commission are putting forth every effort to make this a great day for the children, and are looking forward to a large attendance of both children and grown-ups.

A program of events appears on page four of this section.

All children in Arlington Heights may participate in these activities. Those wishing to enter will please register at the field house, or call Miss Ruppel, tel. 606; Mrs. J. Wisersky, tel. 604.

Miss Dorothy Edwards, who has been in charge of activities for girls under 10 years of age, will have an exhibit of handicrafts developed during the summer. Prizes will also be awarded for this work.

Mrs. Daniels will also show how her story hour has aided in the summer recreational program.

Mrs. J. A. Wisersky is the general chairman in charge of the field day. Other members of the recreation commission who are assisting her are Messrs. Marion Hogate, Herman Bauman, H. Ashton, Robert M. Beatty, Chas. Emmett; Messdames J. May and Ross Richards.

Dental surveys

to start Sept. 8 in local schools

The Board of Health, the Boards of Education and the Public Health Committee are sponsoring the annual dental survey to be made in the four elementary schools. The dental examinations will be made by local dentists the second week of September.

Children who have had dental work done during the summer will not be examined if they bring an O. K. slip from their family dentist showing that their mouths are in a clean and healthy condition.

A complete schedule giving dates of the examinations at the various schools will be published later. Parents are invited to the schools at the time of the examinations.

Traffic Survey to be Made By 8,000 Boy Scouts Over Six Counties September 3

The Boy Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council and their leaders together with those of fourteen other councils in the vicinity of Chicago will participate on Sept. 3, in the largest project of its kind ever held in this country.

In order to make a careful study of the traffic conditions in and around Chicago an origin and destination highway traffic survey will be made by the Cook County Highway Department in cooperation with the Highway Departments of the State of Illinois, the City of Chicago, the Chicago Park District, Will, DuPage, Kane, Kendall and Lake counties and the Federal Bureau of Public Rds. More than 8,000 Boy Scouts will assist the above agencies in making the survey, and will man 360 stations where the traffic count will be taken.

The purpose of this extensive survey which will check all traffic passing each control station during a period from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. is to obtain accurate figures on traffic movements in a typical week day in order to have a basis for planning super highways and other highway construction work to handle the increasing traffic going to and from the city.

The Boy Scouts of the Northwest Suburban Council will furnish scouts for 31 stations located in the Council territory. The scouts will work in pairs and in shifts of three hours at a time. Each station will be under the direct supervision of a trained member of the Cook County Highway Department. A total of 156 Scouts will be needed for each shift at the 31 stations assigned to the scouts.

At a meeting held at scout headquarters Monday evening, August 18, attended by L. G. Wilke and John Laing of the Cook County Highway Department and Harry F. Koelling, scout commissioner, H. P. Dunsmore, district commissioner and Donald E. Kyger, scout executive, the details of the plan were explained and the stations laid out.

Mr. Wilke emphasized the fact that this is the greatest survey of its kind that has ever been taken and expressed his appreciation to the Boy Scout organizations throughout Chicagoland for the fine cooperation which he has received on this project.

Arlington buys Ford police car

Arlington Heights will soon have a new police car—a Ford with Mercury motor, a car that is manufactured by Ford for the special purpose of police officers and not sold to others.

The price of the car is $375 and the old car. As there is nearly $200 in the police equipment fund, the village had only to take $200 from its general fund in order to own a new police car.

Monday's meeting was short in business transacted, but long in hours. Aside from routine reports and payment of $2370.73 in bills, there was no major business before the board except the passage of two ordinances.

One establishes a new schedule of rates for vehicles tags and the other adopts a revised street numbering system in Seaside. Both ordinances appear in this paper.

The village treasurer reported that the cash balance is again low and that a sale of additional tax warrants would be necessary by October 1. All bills as of August 1, 1941, have been paid, including the Public Service Co.

July cash receipts amounted to $6,399.91, of which $5,383.96 were water department collections.

Engineer Harris was given authority to hire needed help to make repairs at disposal plant.

Work on the new well will probably start within the next few days as the driller from the oil well district of Centralia, Ill., is on the job awaiting arrival of his outfit. He estimates that he will complete the work within thirty days.

Robert Duesing, Cavalryman, dies; rides into power line

The many friends of Mrs. Robert Duesing, the former Jayne Payne, of Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, were shocked and saddened to learn of the death of her husband which occurred August 18, at Camp Polk, La. Private Duesing, in service with the army as a member of Troop D, 160th Black Horse Cavalry of Chicago, was a former resident of Park Ridge and well known in Arlington Heights.

While riding with members of his patrol his metal helmet came in contact with a low hanging power line and he was instantly killed. At the time of going to press details of the funeral services were not available.

Lightning causes $12,000 barn fire

Marquardt Bros. operating a 52 acre truck growing farm at the intersection of State and Rand rds., north of Arlington Heights, sustained a $12,000 fire loss when lightning struck their barn shortly before midnight Thursday. Mrs. Marquardt had not yet retired and noticed the shadows of flames through her window. About the same time persons at Kafka's tavern, across the street, discovered the fire and notified the Palatine fire department and in turn the Mt. Prospect rural department and Arlington Heights city department.

Within six minutes after Chief Comfort of Palatine was notified of the fire the first Palatine rural truck was entering the driveway of the farm. The barn which was filled with hay and tools was a mass of flames before the fire fighters arrived. The Marquardt boys were only able to remove their two cars and one horse. Two horses, tools, grain and hay and much truck gardening equipment were destroyed.

The rural fire companies devoted their efforts to saving the remaining farm buildings. Palatine had a line of hose from each of its trucks, and Mt. Prospect gave good service with its outfit. Arlington Heights city department is not equipped to fight rural fires, but supplied the tank of the Mt. Prospect outfit with its supply of water.

The loss is estimated at $12,000 with the barn, only, covered by insurance. Neighbors and friends have generously aided the Marquardts in the removal of debris and otherwise cleaning up the place.

The farm is being operated by three brothers, Albert, Arthur and Otto Marquardt.

Waldemar Krause returns home

Waldemar Krause, who returned home from Sherman hospital, Elgin, last week after eight weeks confinement with two broken arms and a broken leg, looks his old self again. He had a pretty tough time since June 25, when the accident occurred, but with his indomitable spirit, clear mind and a desire to get back on the job, he surprised his family, doctors and nurses by his recovery.

He is now at his home, 19 N. La. Private Krause, in service with the army as a member of Troop D, 160th Black Horse Cavalry of Chicago, was a former resident of Park Ridge and well known in Arlington Heights.

While riding with members of his patrol his metal helmet came in contact with a low hanging power line and he was instantly killed. At the time of going to press details of the funeral services were not available.

Arlington again safest suburb in Cook county

Arlington Heights is again the safest suburb in Cook County according to the recently issued report of the Suburban Safety Council for the first six months period of this year.

The survey included 24 of the largest towns. Nine municipalities escaped a fatal auto accident during the six months. In six of them fewer than 50 persons were injured and only four of these had less than fifty accidents.

Arlington Heights leads all others with only three accidents ten persons injured, 15 cases of property damage covering a total of 18 accidents.

Des Plaines had 82 accidents with 20 persons sustaining injuries. Mount Prospect and Palatine do not report to the suburban safety council.

Plan picnic for recreation girls

Any girl who has attended the recreation sessions this summer at the park is entitled to attend a picnic that will be held in Pottowamie Woods, one block west of Wheeling on Dundee rd., Wednesday, August 27. Those attending, however, must report to Miss Edwards not later than Monday morning, when the group meets for the last time.

Girls attending are to bring their lunches to the field house not later than 11:30 on the day of the picnic. They will return to the field house at 2:30. In case of rain the picnic will be held in the field house.

Arlington firemen picnic and dance

Arlington Heights firemen are depending upon their friends to make their annual picnic and dance, August 31 and Sept. 1, the largest in recent years. It will be held at Recreation park Sunday and Labor Day with Hahnfeldt's orchestra for dancing in the field house.

Sales of tickets are passing over the years and the boys are very much encouraged, and all they ask now is for the weather man to be with them.

Elected district Jr.-vice commander

Paul Carroll was recently elected junior vice commander of the Ninth District of the American Legion. Installation will be held in September.

One killed when driver misses stop sign at rts 83, 62

Failure to observe or see a stop sign at the junction of Elmhurst and Algonquin rds. caused the death of one person and injury to four others about ten o'clock Sunday morning.

Roy Rosebrock, Chicago, was driving north on Elmhurst rd. with his wife and child when, according to witnesses, he drove through the stop sign at the junction with Algonquin rd. Delon Cronch of Chicago was motoring west on the latter rd. and struck the Rosebrock auto, pushing it into a field where it tipped over.

Passersby tipped the Rosebrock car back on its wheels and helped the injured occupants get out. All of the injured were taken to the Mt. Prospect and Northwestern hospitals.

Rosebrock suffered a fractured skull, crushed jaw and chest, numerous cuts, and passed away early in the afternoon. His wife received three broken ribs, broken collar bone and cuts and bruises. Richard Rosebrock suffered numerous lacerations. Both Cronch and his wife were cut and bruised but the four other occupants of their auto were unhurt.

Lutherans stress Christian education in worship Sunday

St. Peter Lutheran church of Arlington Heights is preparing to reopen its large church school with its twices Sunday morning. The membership will rededicate itself to the cause of Christian education and receive new incentive to support its own school. The pastor will present the challenging sermon topic "Is Our School Worth the Cost?"

Unfortunately, it must be announced that the school building is not ready for inspection by the public. The work of renovation is so extensive that the contractors were unable to have it finished by Sunday.

All rooms will be completely done over, all floors are being sanded and refinished and the results, so the school board promises, will delight pupils, teachers, parents, and everybody, who has an interest in the school. The walls have been repainted in cheerful pastel shades, the woodwork in a lively tan which contrasts effectively with the shiny black baseboards.

Miss Glaeser will meet with her primary pupils in a room that shows the latest in modern equipment. Each pupil will have a brand new movable table and chair. Bright pictures will adorn the walls and the whole atmosphere will be conducive to good work.

All members and friends, who believe in a thorough and balanced education of mind and soul, are invited to attend this education service on Sunday morning. The German worship begins at 9:15 and the English service is at 10:45 a. m.

Zero hour for unlicensed autos

Arlington Heights village board gave definite orders Monday night to the police department that Arlington owners of cars for which vehicle tags have not been purchased should be hauled into court by Lake county police or the order came from Chief Skoog who reported that "one or two owners are defying the police."

The police department is not spending any of their time in chasing speeders and will devote several hours a day in ferreting out delinquent car owners. No fix will be permitted.

Those who have not yet purchased their 1941 tag can escape a penalty provided they get down to the treasurer's office before a summons ticket is given to them.

BOYS PREPARING FOR FIELD DAY

Boys between the ages of seven and ten years, who have been attending the recreation group at the park and expect to take part in the baseball game on field day, should be out for practice Monday morning, August 25, at 9:00 o'clock, reporting to Mr. Beckman.

Kiwanis club receives charter

Charter night of Arlington Heights Kiwanis club Friday evening was attended by Kiwanis "from the four corners." Sobies restaurant was filled with diners who partook of a chicken dinner that was followed by a flow of Kiwanian good fellowship.

Among the guests were many people new to Kiwanianism. They learned that night what the word means, what it stands for and the principles and policies that will be followed by the local club.

Frank A. Ramsey was master of ceremonies. The charter was presented by Harry S. Himmel, governor of the Illinois Eastern Iowa district. President Fritz received the charter and pledged to the Kiwanian cause the best efforts of the new club and its members.

Wm. Neumann, vice president of the club accepted from the sponsoring Des Plaines club the gong and gavel so necessary at all meetings. Edison Park-Norwood Club hereafter announced to all who pass this way that Arlington Heights has an active Kiwanis club.

Two local boy scouts brought in American and Canadian flags, gifts of the International club, that were presented in an impressive ceremony.

Entertainment was by Stanford Espeland, who is known to radio listeners as "Olson, the Swede." Swedish stories are always popular entertainment and Espeland had a way with him that called for many an encore. Vocal selections were given by Mary Ann Eiler and Miss Lois Steffen gave piano accompaniment.

Edwin M. Duzen led the community singing.

Violet Himmel in a short talk told the ladies that there is a place for the wives and sweethearts of Kiwanis members. She invited the ladies to attend the convention to be held in October.

Arlington Kiwanis club starts with 26 charter members, but the membership roll is growing and applications are on file from many local business and professional men.

Bowling season opens Wednesday; alleys ready

Arlington Recreation alleys will open for the bowling season beginning next Wednesday. A new color scheme of yellow and brown makes it look like a new place, and Pete Varnak, proprietor, is already ahead of time with a welcome mat at the door.

The country's most popular winter sport will soon be underway. Mr. Varnak urges everyone, including the ladies, to call at the alleys as soon as possible and reservations will be made on league memberships. With many of the community's bowlers off doing their duty, there is a shortage in league members and there should be no reason why everyone who wants to bowl cannot find a spot in some league or another, stated Varnak. There is no restriction except in the Monday night major league where an average of 175 or better is required.

Pin spotters may also contact Mr. Varnak before next Wednesday.

District 1 draft call for 12 men answered by three draftees

Cook county selective service district No. 1, covering northwest Cook county will only be able to send three of the twelve men asked for in the August call. Due to deferments and the lowering of the draft age to 28, the district board does not have twelve men ready for the call. Those who will report for induction August 25 are:

Richard Emil Greinke, Mt. Prospect.

James Leonard Sundwall, rural route, Des Plaines.

Frank Ray Smith, Mt. Vernon, Ill.

The Herald has been asked many times regarding the standing of the late registered "twenty-ones." Every sixteenth questionnaire sent out is received by one of the new men. This does not necessarily mean that every sixteenth man inducted in the service will be a "twenty-one," but it does mean that they will be placed in the draft list on that basis.

Edward Ciezbalo, rural route, Palatine, has been called for service by Lake county draft board No. 1, August 25th.

Heidorns beat Gaares in softball play-off

Heidorns took Gaare's, 3-1 Wednesday evening in the first round of a "best out of three" playoff for the Arlington softball championship.

Ed Ahten sparked the winning team, making numerous spectacular fielding plays and touching off a three run rally. Paul Tossman led the Gaare squad with two doubles and a walk. Totals were Heidorns, 3 runs, 6 hits and 3 errors, and Gaares, 1 run, 7 hits and 1 error.

Second round of the playoff is scheduled for Sunday evening immediately after the Arlington Red Wing game.

Organize Northwest Community Forum

Sponsoring a series of public lectures and discussions of the "town meeting" type, the Northwest Suburban Community Forum has been created to serve the people of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights and neighboring areas. It will secure lecturers and arrange discussion meetings, on matters of public interest. Full details are carried here in accordance with a promise made by the Herald to its readers several weeks ago.

Public-spirited citizens of these communities, realizing the need for unbiased and informative discussion of current affairs, have joined in organizing and supporting this body. The Community Forum, according to its constitution, will strive to "secure speakers on both or all sides of controversial questions." For lectures "the speakers shall be recognized authorities in their fields, whose reputations for integrity and honesty are known." The need for such a body in every community in a nation operated by representative government is obvious.

Chairman of the Community Forum will be Mr. Raymond E. Hayes, teacher of American history and government at the Arlington Heights Township high school. Other members of the executive committee are: Prof. Judson Lee, prominent educator; Mr. Thomas F. Coleman, insurance expert; Mr. Leslie Moodie, business man of Chicago and Arlington Heights; Mr. Deloss Grant, oil company executive; Mr. George Hartford, newspaper director.

The Community Forum is purely a local body and is not affiliated with any other group. It is non-partisan and non-sectarian and its officers and members are specifically forbidden to commit it to stand on any controversial question. It is organized as a non-profit corporation and will receive a charter as such.

Financial support for the Community Forum will come from the citizens of the area to be served by it who are now members or shall become members of the general committee. Also the general public is invited to contribute to the support of this work by attendance at the meetings.

The first of a series of meetings is being arranged for a date in September which has not yet been set definitely. The meeting will be of the "town meeting" type on the subject of American relations with Japan. The Japanese side of the story will be presented by Mr. K. Ohmori, Consul-General in Chicago. America's interests as affected by Japanese expansion will be described by Dr. Kenneth Colegrove, professor of international relations and head of the political science department at Northwestern University. There will be an hour set aside for questions by the audience after the speakers have finished. Further details will be carried in a later edition of the Herald.

Citizens of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, and Prospect Heights, who have recognized the need for this type of meeting and are members of the general committee of the Northwest Suburban Community Forum are listed below:

Mr. H. Ashton, Mr. E. D. Baskin, Mr. Wm. Brown, Mr. Homer Byrd, Mr. T. F. Coleman, Mr. Paul Collins, Mr. Elmer Crane, Dr. E. A. Elfeld, Mr. W. Edward Fritz, Mr. Neal Graham.

Mr. Deloss Grant, Mr. George Hartford, Mr. Raymond E. Hayes, Dr. C. E. Hill, Dr. Judson Lee, Mr. Lester McAuliffe, Mr. Trygve Masing, Mr. Wm. Miles, Mr. Leslie Moodie.

Mr. Henry Muller, Mr. Geo. Poole, Mr. Hubert Rodgers, Mr. Fred Ross, Mr. R. E. Salzman, Mr. Anthony T. Scolari, Mr. John Sigwalt, Mr. James Sommer, Mr. A. C. Wilcox.

Business men on vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Benson of Arlington Seating Co., is in the vicinity of International Falls, Minn. and Fort Frances, Canada, where they are visiting relatives and Glenn is supposed to get in some fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gronert have returned from a delightful two weeks spent at Poygan Lake, Wis., where they had the use of the Sigwalt cottage. Banker Bill says that for once in his life he did not do what he did not want to do. When asked what those things were, he admitted that it was just being lazy.

Wm. Luehring and family have returned to normal life after two weeks vacation.

Treasurer Fred Lorenzen is looking forward to the next two weeks that he will spend at his cottage at Cary.

Officer Karstens is back on the job after two weeks of real vacation. Variety is the spice of life, according to Elmer and Mr. and Mrs. Karstens and their two boys had that variety. The vacation included a trip to the White Pines, Cedar Lake, the circus, a reunion of the Geffert family at Mokena, Ill., and last but not least a show or two with a good dinner thrown in. It is not often that the family of a police officer has the opportunity to really get acquainted with the head of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wilke recently returned from a vacation spent in Yellowstone, Rocky Mountain national park and Denver. Gil says that the majority of the travelers on the road are from Illinois and there are so many of them that accommodations are hard to secure at times.

Even newspaper men take a vacation occasionally. Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Paddock and daughter will spend next week on a Wisconsin lake. Arthur Schoepke of the Herald, with his family, and Margaret Hasemann are at Fox Lake, Wis. Richard Wessel, linotype operator of the Herald has returned from a trip to Yellowstone.

Otto H. Wulbecker sends a card from Rhineland, Wis., telling about good fishing, and the cold nights that make him wish he had brought along his winter undies.

Palatine firemen festival this week

Palatine firemen's annual festival is being held this week at the old location, near the high school. This group has done extensive advertising and expect a record breaking attendance. Nightly drawings are held for good prizes.

Petitions ask recreation tax by Park board

Special election to be called for consent of voters

Members of the Arlington Heights Recreation committee, seeking a way to permanently finance recreation activities at the park are circulating petitions that will be presented to the park board, asking that a special election be called to vote on the proposition of increasing the corporate tax rate of the park district a quarter of a mill and the establishment of a one mill tax for recreation purposes.

The state law authorizes that such elections be held and with the consent of the voters such taxes can be levied. The normal operating expenses of Arlington Heights park district is $11,000 a year. Only $4,000 are received from taxes. If the present recreation program is to be continued in succeeding years, yearly campaigns to secure funds by subscription or sale of season tickets will be necessary. This year, with enthusiasm at its height, the deficiency promises to be over $500.

During July the pool receipts were excellent, but there has been a big slump during August and the pool would be closed today except for the many season tickets that were sold. Some days the past week the pool receipts were less than a dollar.

The petitions will be presented to the park board early next week and an election will be called in the near future.

Elgin boy wins Arlington Heights Soap Box derby

Jimmy Gifford of Elgin won the annual soap box derby in Arlington Heights Sunday. Jimmy survived the numerous heats, eliminated all but two of the contestants and took the final race to emerge the victor.

Fifty boys competed, though but three were from Arlington Heights. Ted Twining of LaGrange placed second with Leonard Held heading the local list by virtue of his third place in the consolation division.

Meet Old Betsy—

THE PRIDE OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS FIRE DEPARTMENT, and the stellar attraction at celebrations of local fire departments where it is displayed and operated amid the laughter and the wetting of the sightseers who chance to be within reach of the stream of water that its operators have ingeniously fitted up to spray those who get too close.

Old Betsy is the product of five members of the Arlington Department. It was constructed especially for the Arlington Heights 1941 July 4th parade. Chief Alex Lips, (the man with the striking goatee and the flowing hair), at the rear, supervised the construction which was secretly completed in a rural garage away from prying eyes. He was assisted by Floyd Dobbins, John Fimbach, Ed. Guenther, Frank Jahn and George Gaare.

The boiler can actually "boil" smoke. It has in imitations, all the contraptions of the early day fire engines. The "small" fellow in the front seat is Mike Dobbins, whose job it is to operate the siren. The chassis was resurrected from an auto graveyard, the gift of Paul Incapero, but with the use of paint and the inventive geniuses who worked on the blame thing, it is a prize fire engine.

The engine and its operators took first prize in the comic act at the Cook County celebration Saturday and Sunday when it competed against an outfit from Curme.

Residents of northern Cook county who have not yet met Betsy can do so Sunday afternoon at Palatine when it will be in the big parade that starts at one o'clock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 17.
The Golden Text was, "Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless his holy name" (Psalms 103:1).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him. In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God" (Psalms 62:5, 7).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Day may decline and shadows fall, but darkness flees when the earth has again turned upon its axis. The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So Science reveals Soul as God, untouched by sin and death, as the central life and intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind" (p. 310).

50th Ordination anniversary for Rev. Ellerbrake
The Rev. J. H. Ellerbrake, pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical church in Hanover township, will be honored in a special service at his church this Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. The occasion will be the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination.
The service is sponsored by the pastors of the Arlington Heights region of which the Rev. Ellerbrake has been a member during forty-four of the fifty years of his ministry. He has served three congregations: The Immanuel Evangelical church of Piquette (Ill.) from 1891 to 1897; the Hanover Township church from 1897 to 1913; the St. John Evangelical church of Arlington Heights from 1913 to 1934 when he returned to the Hanover township church. He plans to retire from the active ministry this fall.
The entire Ellerbrake family is expected to be together for the celebration. Two daughters, Misses Amanda and Esther, reside in Los Angeles, Calif., and are expected this Sunday morning. Miss Frieda, who has been taking a summer course at the University of Southern California, will return with them. Other children are Mrs. Jack Macdonald of Harvey, Ill., Mrs. Ben Helfers of Arlington Heights and the Rev. Geo. P. Ellerbrake of Barrington.
Members and friends of the St. John Evangelical church in Arlington Heights, which Rev. Ellerbrake served for twenty-one years, are invited to attend the anniversary service.

Bensenville Home for Children to hold festival Sunday

Mayor Goedke receives USO final report
Arlington Heights citizens contributed $615.36 to the USO. The final report was made this week to Mayor Goedke by C. L. Griffith, chairman and Raymond E. Hayes, secretary. The report reviewed the organization of the committee and the division of the town into districts. In commenting on the drive for funds, the report says in part: "The amount collected falls short of the quota set for Arlington Heights by one-third. It is our opinion that several factors are responsible. Many of the most able workers in the community were fully engaged in several local civic projects and many business men and others of the community were asked to contribute financially to these enterprises. Just a few weeks previous to the USO drive, the community had been thoroughly canvassed for the benefit of the local swimming pool. One church group had raised a sum only slightly less than the entire USO quota for the use of its own communicants in the armed services. Many residents of Arlington Heights, who work elsewhere, had been asked to contribute to USO at their own places of employment. These factors considerably lessened the ability and the willingness of people to contribute."
C. L. Griffith, as general chairman of the drive has asked the Herald to express his appreciation to C. L. W. Griffith, chairman, Raymond E. Hayes, vice chairman, and to all of the workers who had a part in the drive.
The chairman reminds the public that the USO need is continuous and other contributions can be made at the Arlington Heights National Bank, to Wm. Gronert, treasurer of the fund.

Past Patients of Medical Men
By C. W. Lussman of Sieburg Pharmacy
No one else is so fully aware of the fact that a doctor is the logical — the only — person capable of diagnosing and prescribing for those who are sick or threatened with sickness, as is a past patient.
The chances are he or she first tried to diagnose their troubles, then proceeded to take a drug or preparation someone "thought" would help.
When such treatment failed and the doctor's aid was enlisted, it soon became apparent that the doctor should have been called in the first place.
Past patients are poor prospects for an amateur medical adviser. They know how unwise it is to take medicine without a doctor's say so.
For a return to health, consult a doctor and for properly compounded medication go to the druggist he recommends.

LETTERS FROM THE BOYS IN SERVICE

Boys in service—This paper will be glad to receive and to publish letters from you who are in the service of your country. Your friends at home are glad to read them. One letter to the editor really means a dozen or a hundred letters because of the number of your friends who will read them. There is just one thing that we want you to understand. You can not afford and we can not print criticism of your officers or the government. Such publication would be detrimental to you and would worry all of the mothers at home of the boys who are in service. You can write of army conditions, but do not exaggerate them. The editor believes that there are ways open to each one of you to obtain fair and just treatment if you believe that you are being imposed upon, but that way is not through public criticism. Now that we understand each other, let the letters come. Letters received by relatives here at home will be equally welcomed.

THE EDITOR

Aviation students have fifty-fifty chance to succeed

Leslie Freye, of Palatine, is home on a short vacation from his duties as a civilian flying instructor for the U. S. army at Atlanta, Georgia. From records made to the present time, students in aviation have only about a fifty-fifty chance that they will get their wings.

Mr. Freye is employed by a commercial company supplying instructors to the army. There is such a great need for such instructors that the army, itself, can not supply them.

Leslie is stationed at a camp, which is giving ten weeks training, where trainees are required to pass tests for elementary flying, accuracy and acrobatic work. If they are able to make the tests within ten weeks they are then sent to two succeeding camps, where they receive advanced training. Each instructor has four students under him. During the last two periods of ten weeks each he was able to pass four out of the seven men he instructed, which is considered an excellent record, as only about half of those who try prove fitted to become pilots.

All students now receiving instruction at the camp of Freye, are from England. Many of them have been on bombers and fighting ships and are now in training to become pilots. They are anxious to complete training in order to get back in the fight.

Leslie is of the opinion that the average American boy learns faster than the British who think that U. S. army instruction is too strenuous. Freye enjoys his contact with the boys from across the water and finds them splendid fellows. The instructor has to study the students much as the student studies the ship as physiology plays an important part in creating flyers.

Mr. and Mrs. Frey will leave their son, John, in Palatine in order that he can finish his eighth grade here as sudden moves are frequent for those employed in army service.

This private really enjoys maneuvers

Dear Mom:

Hello, everybody. I am located somewhere in Arkansas near a town by the name of Arkadelphia.

We left Camp Forrest Saturday morning and rode about 150 miles and spent Saturday night at Shiloh National Military Park, where Illinois was taking part in a battle in the war between the North and South in 1863. We put our tents right on the battlefield. It's a beautiful park.

It has name plates all over the field to show where the different armies advanced to different points. It was very interesting.

We arose, arised or something at about 3:30 a. m. and were on our way again.

Sunday we rode about 175 miles and drove through Memphis, Tennessee in the afternoon.

Of course we yell at all the girls and people all of the time and we arose, arised or something while going through Memphis. One kid on the street said that we had better watch out for General Lear because it was just outside of Memphis that the soldier hollered yoo hoo to some girls on the golf course.

Memphis is the most beautiful city I've seen in the south yet. It's really beautiful.

I'm sure seeing a lot of the country on this maneuver. We crossed the Mississippi River yesterday, it's just outside of Memphis. Half of the bridge is in Arkansas.

Today we went through Little Rock Arkansas, which is a pretty big city. The convoy is about 4 miles long and we hold up traffic quite a bit going thru towns and of course all the people are out on the streets waving to us. Tonight we are camped about 1 1/2 miles outside of Arkadelphia, boy what a name.

The area is nice and there is a river about 1/2 mile away and I enjoyed a swim and bath this afternoon, the first bath in three days and boy did it feel good. After going over dusty roads and sleeping on the ground of course we put up our tents every night, but it's still damp. It's very hot down here during the day but very cool at night. We expect to stay here two or three days and then go on to Camp Robinson, about 30 miles from here. I don't know but I think we might have to walk the rest of the way, which means about 15 miles a day for two days. Well, Mom it's so dark I can't see to write anymore so I'll close now.

With Love

When the family of G. H. Services for Charles J. Weidner to be held Friday

Charles J. Weidner, 68, 115 N. Pine st., Arlington Heights, died Tuesday noon, a few hours after he had become ill at his place of employment, the Creamery Package Co. It was seven o'clock in the morning when he realized that he had sustained a partial stroke, having lost control of one hand and some of his speech. Deceased was born in Buffalo Grove, Nov. 20, 1873. He married Miss Katherine Schmitt June 29, 1898. The family remained on a farm until 1925 when Mr. Weidner moved to Arlington Heights. In recent years he had been engaged in factory work. Two of his family had celebrated their golden wedding and he was looking forward to a similar experience.

There remain his wife, four sons, Leonard, Edwin and Richard, Arlington Heights and Joseph, Waukegan; one daughter, Genevieve; three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Schmitt, Mrs. Andrew Stahl, Arlington Heights and Miss Elizabeth Weidner, Chicago; five brothers, Peter, Engelbert, August, Arlington Heights; Henry, Chicago, William, Nebraska; three grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Clarence Franzen, who passed away two years ago August 21.

Precious one from us is gone
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled;
God in His wisdom had given
The boon His love had given
And with the sunshine of his smile
He bade him enter in.
Loving Father, Mother, Sister and Brothers.

IN MEMORIAM

Kruse — Wilhemina Kruse — Passed away one year ago August 23.

In the graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In her lonely, silent grave.
And the flowers we laid upon you,
May wither and decay;
But the love we bore for you,
Dear Mother, will never fade away.
Loving Husband and Children.

Cutting Prolongs Blooming

Annual plants have a life cycle of from seed to seed in one year. You can utilize this fact to prolong the normal blooming season. Just continually remove spent blooms so the plant cannot go to seed. Often recurrent blooms can thus be induced over at least two seasons. You also get more cut flowers from the home this way, a double advantage particularly enjoyed with long-stemmed flowers. If you prefer the blooms for garden effect, just remove the spent flowers.

State road patrol crew does good work

When a state road patrol crew does the job that Fred Uptadel and his men are doing, it deserves newspaper mention. The territory covered by this crew is between Des Plaines and Palatine and the roads are Northwest highway, Foundry road, Euclid avenue, Elmhurst and Central roads.

Any crew can do a good job during its regular working hours, but it is seldom that a crew will turn out during a storm late at night. Several members of that crew were aware that at times of heavy rainfall there is a bad place near the Schenberger silos at Arlington Heights. Three of them went to that scene near midnight Thursday prepared to block the road if it had become dangerous for motorists.

Local motorists can have the satisfaction of knowing that when slippery weather arrives, this same crew will be out bright and early with the sand and cinders. The men who are assisting Mr. Uptadel are Ed Piepenbrink, Alfred Drees and Rudolph Blasiewicz.

Arthur Scharringhausen has been appointed highway supervisor, a position that was filled during the Horner administration by Jos. Hinsberger.

NORTHBROOK

by EMILY THERRIEN, Phone 78
Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Haskell and seven children are enjoying a pleasant auto trip around the lakes for several days.

Mrs. A. Urban celebrated her 70th birthday last week Wednesday with her children at Loom lake. A most delightful time is reported.

Mrs. Joseph Farrell will be hostess to the Church club on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Kodym entertained the Pleasure club last Tuesday afternoon at cards and bunco. The prize winners were Mesdames P. L. Hupp, A. Urban, J. Collard, H. Therrien. The prize for the week was won by Mrs. J. Retzinger, a pretty table cover. The next meeting will be on September 11 at the home of Mrs. Henry Biehl.

Mr. Nicklas Wagner was 90 years old on August 15. He is the oldest resident of Northbrook. He has lived here for over 35 years, the father of thirteen (13) children, he was born in Germany, but came to this country when only three years old. His parents lived on the corner of Lake and Wagner rd. The old homestead is still there. His wife passed away about 9 years ago. They would have celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this November.

Three children were called to their Heavenly Home, Jacob, George and Tony. A party was held on last Saturday in Mr. Wagner's honor, just the children and their families.

Many Northbrook people enjoyed the Firemen's Field day at Morton Grove last Sunday. Credit is due to our firemen for the splendid work. The demonstrations were very interesting, also educating. The monthly card and bunco party given last Friday at St. Norbert's was a huge success. The committee worked hard and is well commended for it. The party will be given in September. Watch for the date.

Mrs. Julia Wagner

After several weeks of illness Mrs. Julia Wagner, nee Brachtendorf, and wife of Mr. Tom Wagner of Glenview, was called to her Heavenly Home on Tuesday, August 12, at her home on Wagner rd. She was well known around the vicinity and had many friends. She was born in a log house that was on the corner of Willow rd. and Sunset ridge rd. on May 1, 1866. Her parents were Peter and Mary Brachtendorf. Her mother passed away 14 years ago. She was the mother of five children and two grandchildren. The daughters, Rose and Lucy, the sons, Peter, Frank and Martin, who is married to Dorothy, nee Joyce, who have two daughters.

A host of friends mourn her besides her husband, Tom, and children who loved her and will miss her more each day.

"Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted." Funeral services were held from the home to the Church of Our Lady of Perpetual Help on Friday, August 15, at 10 o'clock a. m., with burial at St. Mary's cemetery. Rev. Father Dussman officiated.

Louis J. Juhl

Funeral services were held at the Sequin home on last Monday for Mr. Louis Juhl, who, after a short illness, was called to his heavenly home on the 15th of August, just five months after the death of his beloved wife.

Mr. Juhl was born in Denmark on August 9, 1882. He made his home here for several years and had many friends here.

He leaves to mourn him, eight children, James, Helmer, Lucy, Dagny, Louis, Frank, Vievein, Mrs. Edith Swenson, and a son, Arthur, who preceded him in death; also four brothers and two sisters and a host of friends.

Rev. William Weir of the Presbyterian church of Deerfield, officiated. Burial was in Ridgewood cemetery beside his wife.

Lk. Zurich playhouse repeats this week-end 'These are my Jewels'

Possibilities that "These Are My Jewels," which had its world premiere two weeks ago at the Lake Zurich Playhouse, may soon become a Broadway production, loomed large this week as the Lake Zurich cast prepared to present the comedy for the third successive week-end.

Already three different play brokers have offered their bids for the production, and others are coming out this week to look it over.

"These Are My Jewels," written by Henry Barbour and Edith Mackay, was presented for the first time two weeks ago at Lake Zurich. It drew capacity houses and an enthusiastic response, so much so that it was repeated again last week. Capacity houses again were the result, and some customers were turned away. So the play will be offered again Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Members of the Barrington Lions club and their wives will be guests of F. C. Fleming, club president, at a special presentation of the play to be given tonight.

A & P's produce purchases upped 20% by campaign

Chicago, August 22.—A 20.4 per cent increase in purchases of vitamin-bearing fresh fruits and vegetables for sale in A & P Tea Company stores during a ten-week national "Nutrition - For-Defense" campaign was reported today by the food chain's produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company.

The extra sales effort and consumer-education activities that marked the campaign will be continued at the request of growers, Harvey Baum, vice president and general manager of the commission company, said in announcing the final figures for the nation-wide drive.

The company's purchases for A & P — amounting to 33,203 carloads of fruit and vegetables from the opening of the drive on May 19 to its close on July 26 — represented a 5,629-carload increase over the 27,574 carloads bought during the corresponding period of 1940, Baum said. Principal items purchased in producing areas throughout the country included watermelons, peaches, beans, cabbages, oranges, grapefruit, strawberries and tomatoes.

"The results achieved by the A. & P. in its campaign to cooperate in the federal government's 'Food for Defense' program indicate strongly what can be done to help get the proper nutritious foods on to the dining tables of the nation," Baum said.

Discussing plans to extend the merchandising efforts beyond the campaign's close, Baum said growers had requested that the efforts be continued in order to help them move their crops rapidly into consumption during approaching peak production periods in many areas.

"The drive was timed to coincide with peak production periods during the early summer," the food chain official said, "so that we could help growers and at the same time encourage wider use by the nation's housewives of the vitamin-bearing foods that federal nutrition experts say are essential to the country's health."

"The urgent need for promotions of this kind is sharply emphasized by government reports that 45,000,000 Americans are getting diets below the safety line for the protection of health," he pointed out. "U. S. Department of Agriculture reports estimate that a 70 to 100 per cent increase in consumption of fruits and vegetables is necessary in order to meet minimum dietary standards."

EAST MAINE

MABEL WARNCKE, Editor

EAST MAINE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koch and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Steel returned this week from Eagle River, Wisconsin, where they spent an enjoyable week's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Tagtmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Jaacks, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lehman and Miss Ethel Jaacks made up a party of East Mainites who enjoyed a visit to the Wisconsin State Fair at Milwaukee. They drove up Monday morning returning that same night.

The following girl scouts from East Maine left by Greyhound bus Monday morning for Camp Hickory Hill at Edgerton, Wis.: Dorothy Pocius, Barbara Schroeder, June and Gwendolyn Chafin, Nancy Larson, Jane McQuarry, Charlotte Gattie and Lois Tagtmeier. Some of them planned to return next Sunday.

Folks have been asking if the new East Maine public school building on Ballard rd. will be ready when school opens in September and if not what the school schedule will be.

Mrs. Emma Melzer, principal of the school asks that we announce that school will open on schedule on Wednesday morning, September 3 at 9 o'clock. School will be held in the old school building on Milwaukee ave., where a double session will be arranged, with four grades having classes in the forenoon from 8 to 12 noon, and four from 12:15 to 4 o'clock. The new building will not be ready for occupancy by September due to the shortage of skilled labor, but it will be ready in a short time thereafter. The personnel of the teaching staff includes Mrs. Melzer, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Gransee and Mrs. Goodrich.

Ellen Meier and Hubert Melzer are married

Miss Ellen Meier, the daughter of Charles Meier, became the lovely bride of Mr. Hubert Melzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nickolas Melzer of Chicago, last Saturday, at St. Peter's church, Rev. Bizer reading the marriage ceremony.

The bride was dressed in white satin with finger tipped veil, and wore an arm bouquet of white gladioli. Her maid of honor was her sister, Mrs. Ruth Clavey, who wore dusty rose taffeta, and had picardy gladioli, with blue del-phiniums and little Virginia Clavey wore blue taffeta and carried a miniature bouquet.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Charles Meier. A reception was given, at the Georgian Hotel in Evanston, to the immediate party.

Filing date of firm ownership is extended to Aug. 31

The final date for filing the name of the true owner or owners of any business in the state of Illinois has been extended to August 31, according to attorney A. F. Wild. The rush to file of the firms previously operating under assumed ownership necessitated the above extension.

The law as approved in July of this year states that no business shall operate hereafter under any name except that of the true owners, unless a certificate is filed with the county clerk giving the fictitious name to be used in addition to the real owners.

Blanks for filing purposes may be obtained in Arlington Heights at either Krause and Kehe money exchange or Plentie and Behrens office. A fee of two dollars is being collected by the clerk's office for the filing and indexing of such certificates.

Invited to hear plans for post-defense construction

Local public officials have received invitations from the Regional Planning association to attend a dinner Friday evening, September 12 when John M. Carmody, federal works administrator will picture the plans for post-defense public works construction.

In announcing the program, President D. H. Burnham of the Association said, "It may seem early to be talking of what we will have to do when the need for defense manufacture and military training has passed, but we would be very short-sighted not to have plans all ready."

"Undoubtedly industry, transportation and commerce of all kinds will take much of the rebound, give employment to many millions in the manufacture of both capital and consumer goods which are now being deferred in favor of defense manufacture. Undoubtedly, too, there will be much to do in the nature of public works. It is this activity throughout the suburban region of Chicago that we must plan carefully. No work should be undertaken that is not justified, and that has not been very completely planned. Congress is expected to advance funds to states, cities and villages for plan preparation by their own staffs and consultants."

"Airports; continuous railroad grade separation; streets, highway and parkway construction; harbor and waterway improvements; sewers and sewage treatment plants; water mains and purification; park and playground work; schools, libraries, and other public buildings are all of a character that can now be planned, the lands acquired, and the programs made ready for action when time for action arrives."

Mr. Burnham continued, "Every state, county, school and municipal official in the Region of Chicago who has responsibility for such matters should hear Mr. Carmody."

Sobie's cafe to hold grand opening

Sobie's Cafe, located at the corner of Rand and Elmhurst roads, announces that their grand opening will be held on Friday and Saturday, September 5 and 6. Plans are now being formulated for a gala evening of fine food, fine liquor, and dancing. Watch for complete details to be announced later.

Sobie's Cafe, which opened only a few weeks ago, is winning popular approval among folks who enjoy tasty home cooked dinners. Steven Sobie, proprietor, is an experienced restaurateur and along with high class food and service has provided congenial surroundings.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

August 16, 1941

Dear Eleanor:

When your last letter arrived, George, Edward and I were waiting for the postman. He's the jolliest fellow and always has something to say when he hands over the mail. "Got a big one for you today, little lady. It's something special, I think." The boys and I sat down on the porch steps and I tore open the seal of the big brown envelope. Before I could read the letter, I had to show them and the postman your drawing of George. We think it is precious! The mailman said: "Looks like him, too... darned if it doesn't." After I had read your description of the good fairy telling George to keep his new suit clean and the imp of mischief telling him it would be fun to get it dirty, George asked: "Which one did I listen to, Mom?" I'm afraid now that you have sent us two sketches recently, you will be in for it. We're going to expect more of them. How about one of baby Louis?

Mentioning the baby, reminds me of what you said about the family not liking your choice for his name. We had a similar experience when George was christened, although in our case it was his Godparents who disapproved. I guess they were thinking about pullman porters. I have found that we can become accustomed to any name and even grow to like it, if we love the one who carries it. If Louis continues to grow faster as he grows older, you may have to put him on a diet! Robert Ripley says that Louis of France, back in 1130 A. D., became too fat to ride his favorite charger. He ordered his horse to stand by while he underwent a reducing diet. He was never successful at the attempt and for 650 years following his death, a horse was kept waiting in the royal stables, provided with grooms but no rider. Wasn't that something?

What with canning tomatoes and peaches and rushing over to the farm every day, I was afraid I wouldn't get off a letter to you this week. It would mean, if I didn't that the next one would have to be sent parcel post. You know I couldn't bear the thought of you not knowing everything we are doing at Hill Top Farm.

Our good friends, Jim and Louis, drove out to the farm to offer their services. Rob immediately took them up on the offer by handing them shovels and a pick ax. He told them that the little woman insisted on a new excavation dug at a more convenient spot and that as soon as the hole was deep enough, an attempt would be made to carry the "necessary little house" and place it over the hole. As Jack would say, "it was worth the price of a good show" to see Louis digging in that hole. Rob helped him finally, but Jim elected to paint woodwork instead. The two bachelors came to the farm another day and we all paired until dusk. We certainly appreciate the help, though we got many a good laugh over the disheveled appearance of these two men, who are usually so fastidious to soil their hands.

All the rooms are papered and painted now, and two of the bedroom floors are finished. We decided to paint the floors dove gray with the exception of the floor in the den. It will be done in some tone of brown to harmonize with the pine paneled wall paper. I'm planning to make over the lemon yellow curtains in our present dining room, for use in this den. I hope this room will prove to be a restful one for Rob to retire to when he wants to read or take a cat nap. It will hold his favorite chair. You remember, the one I've always threatened to give away or throw out? It's been an eye sore to me for a good number of years. To show him the magnanimous side of my nature, I shall purchase a new slip cover for the chair; arrange a table and lamp near it and place all in the most desirable corner of the room.

Now that we have added some mail order catalogues to our library, we have the most fun looking at the pictures of things that farmers buy. For instance, you may be surprised to know, (I was) that Sears Roebuck and Co. sell the fanciest looking bath tub that folds up neatly like an ironing board. It takes up very little space in a closet when folded and when open for use, is large enough for an adult to lie full length. It has a seat across one end and a drain at the other. It all looks like a great improvement over the round tin tubs that were featured in our grandparents' time. As for the wood and coal stoves for cooking, they look as nice as any white electric stove I've ever seen. And they serve a double purpose in heating the kitchen. After thinking it over carefully, I believe I can do some pioneering for a while. That is, if my back holds up. For as I see it, the hardest job is carrying pails of water from the well. And, haven't I five men in my family? Shucks, it ought to be easy.

Writing about this same family of men, I must tell you that they have, one and all, expressed definite wishes about the farm animals we MUST have. To tell the honest truth, I hadn't given the animals much thought. I'm really only interested in the house at the present. I have only been to the barn once and as for the chicken coop, I thought Dorothy's suggestion that it would make an excellent summer dormitory for the boys, a splendid idea. But not so for my hearties! They actually want chickens, cows, horses and George thinks ponies would be darling for Edward and he. Every time I have talked about putting in a floor and painting the interior of the coop, Rob says plaintively: "A few chickens wouldn't be bad." So, I suppose, we'll at least have chickens. Frankly, I don't see how Rob figures he can be on LaSalle st. every day and the farm at the same time, but I suppose he and the boys will work out some kind of a system. They needn't think they can count on me to milk cows. I'm willing to take my baths in a tub that folds up, but I draw the line when it comes to cows. I've always been afraid of the darn things, though they certainly look like the most complacent beings. So far, I've given in to the extent of saying George and Edward may have a kitten to start off with, though I suppose MacDuff will raise the dickens about it.

I was terribly disappointed when we were told that the original shutters could not be used on the house. They were such nice ones; the kind that actually open and close like venetian blinds. Due to age and mostly neglect they are beyond repair. I shed some tears over this disappointment. Rob's comment to this was the statement that I am the only person he knows who would be willing to get along without a modern bathroom, yet have a crying fit because the shutters can't be used on the house. He's come to the conclusion, that I am an incurable romanticist and is letting it go at that. I wonder if he's right.

Cousin Georgia enclosed the following verse in a letter to me last week. I thought you might like it, as I do. Wish I knew the author. Do you? Sounds like Edgar Guest or Douglas Malloch.

GOOD TIMBER

The tree that never had to fight
For sun and sky and air and light;
That stood out in the open plain,
And always got its share of rain,
Never became a forest king,
But lived and died a scrubby thing.

The man who never had to toil,
Who never had to win his share
Of sun and sky and light and air,
Never became a manly man,
But lived and died as he began.

Good timber does not grow in ease;
The stronger wind, the tougher
The farther sky, the greater length;

The more the storm the more the strength;
By sun and cold, by rain and snows,
In tree or man good timber grows.

Where thickest stands the forest growth
We find the patriarchs of both.
And they hold converse with the stars
Whose broken branches show the scars
Of many winds and much of strife,
This is the common law of life.

And now goodbye until I see you at our house soon. Bring Estelle and the boys and we'll drive you all over to see the farm.

Much love,

Mary

Thanks so much, Ruth, for carrying on for me while we were at Arcadia. Liked your style of lingo. Had a grand time last week but came back with a souvenir that isn't so comfortable so am huntin' and peckin' with my left hand while the right rests comfortably in a sling.

Seems as though our Leaguers are getting that "June fever" for Herbert Gehrke and Arlene Hartwig, two swell kids from Barrington, have applied for their license; Hilda Stoelck is sporting a diamond given to her by Len Rateike, both of Arlington; Gertrude Gehrs also of Arlington comes back from her vacation with the announcement that September 13 will be her wedding day. Evelyn Helvogt hasn't long to wait either, as she will become a bride on August 30. Congratulations to these people. We'll be wishing you more when your important days arrive.

Congratulations, too, to Wally Bloethner who celebrated his 77th birthday Monday. We managed to get back in town early enough Saturday night to wish him many more happy days in person.

More congratulations—this time to the Arlington baseball team. We were disappointed that they didn't win from Blue Island Sunday, but we're still proud that they're champions in our zone.

Don't forget to make arrangements to get to Navy Pier by 9:30 a. m. Sunday for that boat cruise to Milwaukee with the North Shore Leaguers. Ruth gave you full details last week, so refer to that again if you've forgotten.

Proves Fish Story

Dr. Alex R. Anderson, Van Nuys, Calif., veterinarian, told the biggest fish story of his life here recently. He claimed sole ownership rights to the first fish that ever entered a hotel through the front door and he proved it. The sportsman landed a 325-pound swordfish in San Diego waters and at the end of the cruise rushed back to the hotel to report his prize catch. Under stress of heckling from doubting Thomases who confronted him, he returned to the dock, hoisted the fish into his car, drove back to the hotel and hauled his catch into the lobby.

There were more than twice as many entries this year, the second one that the vegetable exhibit has been held in the junior department. Rathje Percherons win fair ribbons; now at national Fresh from their winnings at Wisconsin state fair, twelve head of purebred Percherons from the Frank C. Rathje Farm at Palatine, Ill., journey to St. Paul, Minn., there to compete in the open and group classes at the National Percheron show. Three stallions and nine mares constitute the show string, and nine of the total number are sons and daughters of the Rathje herd sire, Cy Laet, grand champion from the Chicago International in 1932. Two mares and their 1941 foals will be shown with the group.

Percherons representing 21 herds from eight states are entered in the show this week, (Aug. 23-Sept. 1). Judging begins on Monday morning, Aug. 25, with J. C. Holbert, professor of animal husbandry at Iowa State College, Ames, in the ring as judge. Gilbert Arnold, Greenville, Quebec, Canada, largest importer and breeder of draft horses in that country and president of the Canadian Percheron Association, will act as observer judge and also judge in special type classes.

Besides the home state the following are represented at the show: Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri.

Care of pullets is necessary for fall egg profits

Flock owners in Illinois have a real opportunity to support the call for more eggs and at the same time to do it profitably.

However, whether poultrymen will have plenty of eggs to sell the rest of this year on the strong egg market depends upon several factors, according to H. H. Alp, extension poultry specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Care of the pullets during August and September constitutes one of the most important factors, Alp explained. The trouble with many pullets in September and October is "harvest disease." They played "second fiddle" to other farm activities in July and August.

The date the birds are housed in the fall, the type of house used and the number of birds to a house are also important considerations.

Roundup meet to show how farms earn extra $4,000

"Secrets" of how some farmers, through good times and bad, earn $2,000 to $4,000 a year more than neighboring farmers, with about equal opportunities will be revealed as one of the features of the farm bureau-farm management roundup meeting to be held in the Galesburg Armory, Tuesday, September 9. The program is scheduled from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

As an added feature, a speaker of international reputation is being obtained to discuss the situation of corn-belt farmers under wartime and post-war conditions.

The "secrets" of extra farm profits will be drawn from an analysis of farm records which 178 farmers in 10 western Illinois counties have kept during the past three years in their farm bureau-farm management project. The work is sponsored and supervised by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture in cooperation with farm advisers and farm bureaus of the 10 counties, including Peoria, Rock Island, Stark, Warren, Fulton, Henderson, Henry, Knox, McDonough and Mercer counties.

Reasons for the wide differences in earnings will be explained by means of charts. H. C. M. Case, head of the college's department of agricultural economics, and M. L. Mosher, extension farm management specialist, will speak in connection with this part of the program.

Practices followed by some of the more successful farmers in keeping their farm earnings above average will be explained by them. B. E. King, fieldman for the project, will report on a special study which he has made on the farms.

Attendance is expected to reach 1,200 or more, including representatives from adjoining states who have become interested in the project as a means of promoting better farming and improving farm income.

Dairymen faced with annual hot weather problems

If Illinois farmers are to continue to cash in on favorable dairy prices and step up production for the food-for-defense program, hot weather, flies, short pastures and the busy farming season are a few problems that must be successfully met. This is the belief of C. S. Rhode, of the dairy department of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

By all means regular milking periods should be adhered to as closely as possible, since any marked change in the regular management of the dairy herd usually results in decreased milk and butterfat production, he said.

Allowing her to run down in flesh is poor practice, Rhode said. Too often this happens in late summer. The cows will freshen later on in the fall and winter in thin condition and will not produce as well nor as efficiently as cows that freshen in good flesh.

Dairymen who feed grain, silage, hay, or combinations of these feeds during the summer, say the practice pays. This system will pay even more next winter. A suitable grain mixture to be fed this time of year to cows on permanent pasture is five parts of ground corn or barley, two parts ground oats or bran and one part soybean, cottonseed or linseed meal.

Flies are partly responsible for low milk yields and thin cattle, contends Rhode. Cows should be protected from flies by giving them access to a darkened, cool stable during the heat of the day. The barn windows may be darkened by nailing building paper over them. Gunny sacks hung in the doorways will brush the flies from the cows' backs as they enter the barn. Fly sprays furnish some relief. A homemade fly spray may be made by mixing one-half pound pyrethrum, one gallon of kerosene and one cup of cresol compound. After 24 hours the mixture should be filtered through a cloth.

Drive for better dairying hits new record in Illinois

With a new peak number of 86 dairy herd improvement associations operating in Illinois, dairymen of the state are better organized for efficient production than at any time in history, according to J. G. Cash, dairy extension specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The new record total of 86 associations has just been reached with the organization of a third association in Kankakee county.

That county, which has stood ahead of all counties with its five cooperative breeding associations, now becomes the third county to have more than 10 per cent of all cows in the county on test and more than 100 herds enrolled in DHIA work. Only Kane with 11 per cent and Lake with 10.8 per cent surpass Kankakee with 10.3 per cent of cows on test. Only McHenry with 152 and Stephenson with 144 stand ahead of Kankakee with 102 in total number of herds in the county contest.

The eighty-six dairy herd improvement associations in operation in the state are keeping complete feed costs and production records on approximately 2,100 herds of more than 41,000 dairy cows.

For more than a quarter of a century the extension service of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture has sponsored dairy herd improvement activities in an effort to encourage better management, feeding, breeding and care of dairy herds as a step toward more efficient dairy production.

Visitors' Day on PMA 'Neatest Farms'

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Glasner, owners of Corcoland, Naperville, Illinois, and the Kenneth Nelsons who operate the farm, will welcome visitors all day Sunday, August 24, when seven Pure Milk farms in Illinois will be open for inspection.

Corcoland won first prize in District 10 of Pure Milk Association and was runner-up for the grand championship of the Chicago milk shed among eighteen finalists in the 8th annual Neatest Dairy Farm Contest conducted by the Association. The farm is 1 1/2 miles north of Ogden ave. (Route 34), north of Naperville on Warrenville rd.

Other prize-winning Pure Milk farms which will hold "open farm" on Visitors' Day are:

Provident Farm, Union, Illinois—first place winner in PMA District 5.

Mrs. Josephine Whittemore farm, Huntley, Ill., first place winner in PMA District 6.

Henry and Peter Trompeter farm, Plano, Ill., first place winner in PMA District 8.

Campton Hills farm, Wasco, Ill., first place winner in PMA District 9.

Herman Gee farm, Orland Park, Ill., first place winner in PMA District 13.

Mrs. Julia Dickman farm, Hershey, Ill., first place winner in PMA District 14.

Vaccination for fowl pox early is practicable

Although fowl pox occurs in poultry flocks most often during the fall and winter, vaccination during growing stock during the late summer and early fall will prevent this disease, also called canker and avian diphtheria, say animal pathologists of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

As a preventive measure for flocks where the disease has occurred, poultrymen should be vaccinated before they begin to lay. Vaccine may also be used to check the spread of the disease.

Animal pathologists say there are two kinds of vaccine—fowl pox vaccine and pigeon pox vaccine. Fowl pox vaccine should not be used in laying flocks, although it produces a stronger and longer immunity.

Pigeon pox vaccine, however, can be used with greater safety. It is recommended for use in flocks where the disease appears and for laying birds.

Flocks that have never had fowl pox or those that appear unlikely to contract the disease should not be vaccinated, according to the pathologists.

Rye seeded new for cows pays up to $12.50 an acre

Rye seeded in August or September for late fall and early spring pasture has paid dividends of as much as $12.50 an acre for Illinois dairymen, according to J. G. Cash, dairy extension specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Aside from the extra income, such pasture will help dairymen keep production up to the desired level in the current national programs on food-for-defense and nutrition, he pointed out. Returns of $12.50 an acre from rye pasture used early in the spring of 1941 were reported by M. P. Roske, Carroll county farm adviser, on the farm of J. K. Morris, Mt. Carroll. On April 19, 25 milk cows were turned on a 10-acre field that was seeded early in September of 1940. Even though the herd had been fed a good grain ration and most of the cows were in the seventh month of lactation, an average gain of 7 per cent in

TOGETHER IN ROUSING ADVENTURE

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday on the Palatine screen — "The Bad Man," filmization of the spectacular stage success, opens this week on the Palatine screen, with two of the screen's greatest character stars heading the cast in the persons of Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore. Beery has his greatest role since "Viva Villa!" as Pancho Lopez, picturesque desperado of the cattle lands, while Barrymore as Uncle Henry Jones, the only man who dares his wrath. Laraine Day plays the feminine lead in the new hit, with Ronald Reagan. "I'm Nobody's Sweetheart," a comedy feature is on the same bill.

The State Fair—The law of Illinois provides that the State Department of Agriculture shall "hold annually a state fair in order to promote improved methods of agriculture to encourage an increased yield of grains, grasses, fruits, vegetables and other crops and the raising of improved breeds of livestock and poultry, to acquaint farmers with the latest implements and machinery of agriculture, and to encourage the manufacture of butter, cheese and other products of agriculture."

Title to the state fair grounds was, by a law of 1917, transferred from the state board of agriculture to the people of Illinois, and the Department of Agriculture was designated as custodian of the grounds and buildings. The department is given broad authority to adopt rules and regulations governing the conduct of the fair, classes of exhibits, premiums, racing, admissions, policing and protection of the grounds, buildings and exhibits and other necessary procedures.

According to law all persons attending the fair must pay an admission charge, except "exhibitors and their bona fide employees, honorably discharged soldiers, and children under 5 years of age."

The fair is administered by a general manager, who is an officer of the State Department of Agriculture. To aid the department and total milk production was obtained for the 24 days following April 19 that the cows were on the rye. While on the rye the cows consumed less grain. The saving in cost of grain plus the value of the additional milk produced amounted to $125, or a return of $12.50 per acre.

All feed fed and milk are weighed on the Morris farm, thus making possible an accurate appraisal of the value of the rye pasture.

Dairymen selling to outlets where the flavor of milk from cows on rye is objectionable can avoid the flavor by removing the cows from rye pasture three or four hours before milking, Cash said.

Ten-year rise of soybeans will be hailed Sept. 25

The first ten-year period in the history of soybeans as a new and now highly important industrial crop will be celebrated in an Illinois soybean day to be held at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, Thursday, September 25, it is announced by Dean and Director H. P. Rusk.

Cooperating with the college in sponsoring the day will be the Illinois Agricultural Association, which was active in helping pioneer the use of soybean oil in paints.

Featuring the day's program will be a banquet honoring those who championed the new crop during its rise from the status of a novelty to a No. 1 position as a cash and industrial crop. A speaker of national reputation is being obtained for the banquet and for the evening meeting which follows.

All phases of the soybean production and processing industry will be covered during the day-time program, including the growing and harvesting of beans, their processing and their by-products and the marketing of the crop.

Figuring prominently in the day's program will be the U. S. Regional Soybean Industrial Products Laboratory, which is now located on the U. of I. campus as a direct outgrowth of the pioneering work which the university did in introducing the crop and developing its industrial possibilities. Tours also will be conducted to the university's extensive soybean research program on the south farm.

Holding of the ten-year celebration comes at a time when soybeans have just gained new recognition as a source of oil for the national defense program.

Value of the 1941 crop which Illinois, the leading soybean producing state, is growing for grain alone will exceed $25,000,000, authorities estimated, whereas 10 years ago the crop had a value of only $2,696,000. The state this year is growing approximately three million acres for all purposes, whereas 10 years ago there were less than a million acres.

Scratches on Patent Leather
For scratches on patent leather, use a mixture of olive oil and jet black ink; paint over the scratches with a fine brush, repeating several times if necessary. To preserve patent leather, rub it at night with a little vaseline and polish it off in the morning. This also applies to kid shoes.

Fur Skins
Fur skins shipped from Argentina to the United States last year were valued at nearly $1,841,000.

Freezing process new venture for many homemakers

Freezing foods will be a new venture for some Cook county homemakers this summer, but a good time to learn the method is right now when the peach crop is booming, says Mrs. Mary Lawton Wright, Home Adviser. Peaches are a fairly easy fruit to handle this way.

An encouraging word from Mrs. Helen Klaas Engdahl, first assistant in home economics, University of Illinois College of Agriculture, is that "it is easier and simpler to prepare foods for freezing than it is to can them."

She reports, furthermore, that freezing yields products which are very similar to the fresh ones in appearance, color, texture and flavor, and that in food value the frozen foods compare very well with the fresh fruit. Vitamin C may be slightly affected, but if the fruit is frozen immediately and stored at zero the loss will be slight.

Use of high quality fruit is emphasized on the basis that freezing seems to amplify rather than cover up any inferiority in quality. For this reason research workers urge homemakers to "work fast" when putting up the crop.

From the technical standpoint, the main point to know about fruits and vegetables is that they contain enzymes which must be made inactive before the food is frozen. Otherwise these enzymes produce off-colors and flavors and other undesirable characteristics in the frozen product. Enzyme action in fruits is inhibited by the addition of a sugar sirup or solid sugar. Either sugar or sirup may be used according to the type of fruit and final product desired. The one precaution is that all fruit must be covered with a liquid to prevent contact with the air. Naturally juicy fruit will form a liquid in combination with the sugar. Solid fruits require a covering sirup.

Containers recommended are cardboard cartons, rectangular in shape and straight sided, with a moisture-vapor proof lining. Specific directions for freezing any fruit or vegetables may be obtained any morning between 9 and 12 o'clock at the Home Bureau of food located in the Post Office Building in Des Plaines.

'Poor' Millionaire
A banker named Vaudeville, worth $5,000,000, had to be bled for an illness. Rather than pay three percent per bleeding for three separate bleedings of eight ounces, he ordered the 24 ounces of blood be taken at one time to save six-pence. Like his namesake, Vaudeville left this earthly stage!

Insulating Board
Because of its adaptability, insulating board is one of the leading materials used for insulation. It serves as a structural material as well as an insulation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Workman of Miami, Florida, have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. John Barrett. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barrett of Pana, Ill., have also been guests at the Barrett home.

Mrs. George Sicks returned home last Friday. She spent the summer with relatives in Indianapolis and Dubuque and enjoyed several trips including one to Fort Knox, Kentucky where she visited her son, John Sicks.

Miss Laverne Moeller entertained a group of fifty young people at her home last Wednesday evening. The basement recreation room offered ample space for dancing and other games to vary the program.

One more week of vacation remains for pupils of Wheeling public school. High school students attending Northbrook will have an extra week before classes begin on Monday, September 8.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nielsen and daughters, Ingrid and Joan, returned home on Saturday from a two-week vacation trip to Wisconsin. They spent most of the time at Tomahawk where they enjoyed fishing and resting. Their catches kept them supplied with all the fresh fish they cared to eat. A sight-seeing trip took them to Lake Superior and the Porcupine Mountains where they saw the beautiful Lake of the Clouds. On the way home they visited the Cave of the Mounds near Madison. The interior of this cave is lined with beautiful formations of onyx and has been opened to the public recently.

Miss Gladys Keil of Maywood spent part of her vacation here with her grandparents, the August Piepers.

The Wheeling Bunco club, otherwise known as the W.B.C., met at the home of member Elaine Hipp on Monday evening. The Bettys seemed to be the lucky players, and prizes went to the Misses Bette Scanlon, Betty Oakley and Betty June. The traveling prize went to Miss Alice Ortel for the second time in succession. Although a day late the club presented Betty Oakley with a house coat for a birthday gift. After twenty-five games of bunco, refreshments were enjoyed.

Master Billy Saunders returned home from the Children's Home for Crippled and Convalescent children near Elgin, on Tuesday afternoon. Billy has been a heart patient at the home for the past eighteen months. This was the second time Billy received treatment at the home having been a patient at the home for a similar period several years ago, following an attack of scarlet fever. We hope he has recovered more permanently this time.

covered more permanently this time.

Mrs. E. E. Gieske, Mrs. R. Utpadel and the Misses L. Schneider, V. Gieske and M. Miller were among the throngs in attendance at the 12th annual Chicago and Music Festival at Soldiers Field on Saturday evening. Highlights of the program included the final contest of vocal soloists, the combined chorus of 4,000 voices; an impressive tribute to Ignatius Paderewski; the marimba band numbering over 100 instruments; the field maneuvers of the Bengal Guards of Orange, Texas, composed of 125 girls in colorful uniforms; the pagentry presenting the classic cartoon "Indian Summer" which concluded with a tribute to the cartoonist J. T. McCutcheon; and the four selections sung by the guest soloist Giovanni Martelli. The unfurling of the giant American flag, while the entire assembly numbering over 100,000 persons, sang the Star-Spangled Banner, was a fitting close for the program.

At least two Wheeling boys are among the large scale army maneuvers being staged in Louisiana at the present. Private Dale Somers is among those who came from Fort Bliss, Texas and Private John Sicks went with the mechanized forces from Fort Knox, Kentucky, to participate in the maneuvers. Marine James Utpadel is engaged in maneuvers at Camp Elliott in California at the present, where his former pal, Alfred Krueger, has been stationed for some time.

Marshall C. Balling spent a week of his vacation at Westminster Lodge near Saugatuck, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Utpadel drove to Edgerton, Wis., Sunday, where they spent the day with friends.

The Victor Haben family spent Monday at Glen, Michigan, where they visited Mrs. Haben's sister, Mrs. Lincoln Clark, Jr.

The Reitz family are moving to Chicago this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Linnekehl, the Misses Adele and Myla Utpadel, and Wilber Utpadel, attended the Wisconsin State Fair at Milwaukee Wednesday.

The Rev. and Mrs. L. Aronson and daughter, Ruth, Chicago, are spending a few days at Morrison.

Wheaton College is erecting a $155,000 physical education building, which is being financed by pledges and gifts from alumni, students, faculty and friends.

Chicago building permits for six months in 1941 were up 93 per cent over the first half of 1940. Increases in factory payrolls, outgoing telephone calls, electric power production, new automobile registration, pig iron production, bank clearings and carloadings showed up all the way from 12 per cent to 44.5 per cent.

Chicago pigeon owners are turning over 25,000 pedigreed homing birds to the army to be used in defense signals.

There is to be a rodeo at Soldier Field on Labor Day.

Walter Gray, River Forest policeman, who was maimed in April, 1940, by a mysterious bomb attached to his automobile starter in front of his home, although still on crutches, has gone back to work as a desk sergeant. During the time he was laid up he qualified for a federal radio operator's license.

Paul Douglas has revived the idea of turning the I-M canal, often called the tadpole ditch, into a superhighway. But he proposes first to dump Chicago refuse into the ditch to bring it up to grade, and save Chicago a few million dollars. It's a good idea if he can put it over.

Third Year in Coma

Prospect Heights Safety Council news

The personnel recently appointed by the P.T.A., the Prospect Heights Improvement Association and the Lions club for the directed purpose of forming the Prospect Heights Safety Council, met Monday evening for the prearranged purpose of electing its first roll of officers.

An organization plan had previously been formulated, from studies made by the entire group, during the past month so that the election could proceed without delay.

As a result of this previously planned evening the first officers of the Prospect Heights Safety Council are:

Chas. Darfler—President.
W. Travers—Vice President.
Mrs. Valley—Secretary-Treasurer.

President Darfler immediately appointed the following committees:

Earl Neighbors—Ways and Means.
Mrs. M. Palm—Schools.

Mrs. E. Valley, Mrs. Bert Olsen, and D. C. Robertson, Sr.—Publicity.

It is encouraging to note the community interest which is being displayed in Prospect Heights in the interest of safety. This interest is indeed timely and is in direct ratio to that interest now evident in every state in the Union, not only from an industrial viewpoint, but also from a view of safety in the home and particularly on our streets and highways.

Contrary to the general conception that accidents are on the decline, just the reverse is true to the degree that the large Safety Councils, civic and industrial relations organizations and community safety groups are now confronted with the problem of bringing these facts squarely into every home in our country.

This is what we hope to do. We hope to be able to bring to you, at frequent intervals, the facts as they relate to safety in your homes and on the streets and highways and to offer you our concerted efforts and assistance in helping you and your children to avoid accidents.

To be successful in this worthwhile undertaking necessitates the cooperation of every resident of Prospect Heights and your Safety Council is earnestly asking each of you for your cooperation and for your support.

It Happened Here

Mr. Merrilees is a brick layer and proud of his craft; if he had lived in the old days he would have been an artisan and belonged to a guild; he has the same pride of workmanship, the same abomination for a poor job and looks down as becomes a good guild member on plasterers and their ilk. He is English and has lived in the neighborhood for forty or fifty years, one of a group of Englishmen, Scotchmen and Danes who settled here and kept their civic pride in spite of the City encroachments, and he has never lost iota of the Englishman in looks or speech despite his long residence here; it is as difficult to follow his rapid talk as the he spoke an unknown tongue. But in satisfaction at a job well done we are at one; after pointing out the porch steps, he shows us where the new joins the old wood and break, then gathers up his old tools and stands looking over the nestling houses and pointing out this chimney and that rising above the tretops.

"My work, I laid these chimneys," he says with the just pride of an artist walking thru a gallery where his pictures are on display. It must be a rewarding experience to have your works hung against the sky to be seen and honored of all men; so may the old laborers have felt who wrought the vast cathedrals which a lesser breed of men can destroy in a few seconds' barrage from the sky. She stepped into an office elevator as the she had stepped out of a long vanished past, wearing a Victorian bonnet and pelisse and high buttoned shoes; everything she wore was of the very best make and quality and in voice and manner she could have been one of the Queen's ladies-in-waiting. The elevator man spoke to her as to royalty. "I haven't seen you lately, Ma'am." "No," she said gently, "I haven't been able to get a play near by since they closed the Auditorium." One wonders what ghosts of the past have been flitting the doomed Auditorium which has not known a barrage from the skies.

Conserve
Properly, the word conserve describes a shelf supported by a bracket, a figure, front legs only a scroll or a spread eagle, depending upon the wall for back support. In current parlance, however, the word describes most any kind of a table set against the wall.

News of Prospect Heights

To the 7th and 8th grade students of Prospect Heights

The Board of Education wishes the parents of all 7th and 8th grade students notified that, because of inadequate facilities in our own school, these grades will be sent to Mt. Prospect school this year. Transportation and tuition will be furnished but it is necessary that all students be registered with Principal Gallagher of Mt. Prospect before Labor Day in order that necessary arrangements can be made.

Prospect Heights school will now be officially known by that name rather than by the old name which has little present meaning for the community.

Postoffice awaits "go" sign

Prospect Heights is now officially on the Post Office map, and awaits only completion of a transportation contract to have regular service. Mr. Galbraith, at the Prospect Heights Pharmacy is the Postmaster, and is already equipped to sell stamps and money orders and states it will only be a few days before complete operation is in effect. You may make reservations for your boxes now.

Boy Scouts of Prospect Heights hold first meeting

Prospect Heights Boy Scouts met at the home of Scout Master Frank Portman on Friday evening of last week. It was gratifying to Scoutmaster and committee men to have 12 boys turn out for this meeting and it is believed there will be at least 18 boys at this evening's, August 22nd meeting which shall again be held at Scout Master Portman's home on West Willow road, at 7:30 p. m. All boys of this school district 12 years or over are cordially invited to attend. Registration will perhaps take place the end of this month, at which time the boys will receive their charter. All boys joining up with the Prospect Heights Troop prior to this time shall be charter members.

The Boy Scout committee men have had an organization meeting at the home of Mr. R. Daniels on Monday evening.

Lions club news

The next regular meeting of the Prospect Heights Lions club shall be held at Rand's restaurant, Euclid and Sand rds., Wednesday evening, August 27, at 6:00 p. m. At this meeting the club would like to have as many books on the "Prospect Home" turned in, as this meeting marks the "Half way Drive." So far satisfactory results have been enjoyed both in the books and admissions to the "Prospect Home." Let us, each and every one put forth even greater effort, so we may reach our goal—a perfect community house for a perfect community.

WE WELCOME

To our fast growing community, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jungbluth, who will reside at 307 E. Circle Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Hedges, who will make their home at 209 E. Marion St.

It may seem a bit odd to be welcoming Mr. Jungbluth at this time, as he has taken more than an active interest in Prospect Heights since purchasing his lot and awaiting the readiness of his home. He's been active in Lion and Scout work and celebrated his 50th birthday in his new home as he said he would, with a dinner party for relatives and friends even though his home was merely four brick walls.

We hope both of these families will grow to appreciate Prospect Heights as much as we do.

Federal Insurance for Workers Under the Social Security Act And Their Families

Benefits under Old-Age and Survivors Insurance when the worker dies

Under the federal old-age and survivors insurance system, when a worker dies before 65, he is generally fully insured if he has enough quarters of coverage to equal half the calendar quarters between the time the law went into effect—January 1, 1937—(or when he became 21 years old, if later) and the time of his death. He must in any case have at least six quarters of coverage. If he leaves a widow and a child, or children of school age, the family will receive monthly benefits until the youngest child reaches age 18. The widow will again receive benefits when she reaches age 65.

Take the case of a man, whom we will call Robert Hanson, who died on October 1, 1940, at the age of 35. He left a widow and three children—one 7 years old, one 4, and one 2 years old. Robert had worked at a salary of $250 a month in covered employment from the time this federal insurance system started on January 1, 1937, to the first of 1940, when he became ill and had to stop work. Robert was fully insured because he had accumulated 12 quarters of coverage—more than half the 15 calendar quarters elapsing between January 1, 1937, and the date of his death.

What the widow and children get

When the worker dies before retirement age, the formula is the same for finding the worker's primary insurance benefit as in the case of monthly retirement benefits (explained in preceding article). The benefits for the widow and children will be based on the worker's primary insurance benefit. Each unmarried, dependent child under 16, or under 18 if in school, will receive one-half of the worker's primary insurance benefit. The widow, if she has the children in her care, will receive three-fourths of the primary benefit.

To find out what Robert Hanson's family will get, the first step is to figure what his average monthly wage is. He received wages of $250 a month for the years 1937-38-39. The total of his wages then is $9,000. This must be divided by the number of months between January 1, 1937, when the system began, and the month in which he dies—October, 1940. That would be 45 months. Divide $9,000 by 45 and the result—$200—is Robert's average monthly wage.

An average monthly wage of $200 over a period of 3 years will give a primary insurance benefit of $36.05. The widow's benefit would be three-fourths of this—or $27.04. Each child's benefit would be one-half—or $18.02. Add these together and the total is $81.10.

But the law fixes a maximum which any family can receive. This is determined by one of three figures, whichever is smallest—$85, or twice the primary benefit, or 80 per cent of the average monthly wage. In this case twice the primary benefit, $72.10, is least. This is what Robert's widow and children will receive each month.

Each child's benefit will continue until he reaches age 18 if he stays in school. Otherwise it will stop at the age of 16. The widow's benefit will continue as long as she has in her care any child entitled to benefits, provided she does not remarry or go to work in covered employment.

Since Robert was fully insured his widow, if she does not marry, would again be entitled to monthly benefits when she reached the age of 65. These would be three-fourths of Robert's primary insurance benefit. If a fully insured worker dies at any time leaving a widow but no unmarried children under 18, the widow is entitled to monthly benefits at age 65. In the meantime she would be entitled to a lump sum death payment equal to six times Robert's primary insurance benefit.

If a fully insured worker dies at any time leaving no widow or unmarried child under 18, but has had a parent or parents wholly dependent on him, monthly benefits equal to half his primary insurance benefit are payable to each parent.

If an insured worker dies leaving no member of his family entitled to monthly benefits at the time of his death, a lump sum equal to six times his primary insurance benefit may be paid to a widow, widower, or certain other relatives; or if there is no such relative, the person who paid the burial expenses will be reimbursed up to an equal amount to six times the worker's primary insurance benefit.

Additional information about old-age and survivor's insurance may be gotten from the Social Security Board field office, 1045 Lawrence avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Gaures and Heidorns Clash in City Series for Softball Title

Studebakers beat Iroquois in extra inning

by RAY HAYES

Gaures and Heidorns will settle their claims to a season's championship with a three-game series which was scheduled to begin on Wednesday evening of this week. Sunday afternoon the two teams will tangle in the second game of the series. The game will begin at about six o'clock. It may be the deciding game of the series, as the winner of Wednesday night's game will be out to grab the title in straight victories. If a third game is necessary it will probably be played on the following Sunday.

Final standings (second round)

1. Gaure Studebakers	7	0	1,000
2. Benjamin Electric	6	1	857
3. Iroquois A. C.	4	3	571
4. C. Y. O.	3	4	429
5. Heidorn's Sweet S.	3	4	429
6. Leo's Barber Shop	2	5	285
7. Creamery Package	1	6	143
8. Hoppers A. C.	1	6	143

Heidorns won the first round title in a three-way play-off after finishing in a tie with CYO and Gaures. Each team had won five and lost two.

Benjamin Electric continued in a contention position for the second round title Tuesday evening by beating Hoppers 5-1. Kaufman allowed only one hit while his mates were getting but three off Dick Busse.

Busse walked seven men and three of them scored. Kaufman walked three and one of them scored.

W. Rudolph's home run in the sixth with two men on base salted the game away for Benjamin.

Busse's single in the fourth, with one on base, just right for right-fielder Intravato to grab it and save a homer. Hoppers did not score until the fifth when a walk and an error brought in their only run.

Leos went out to repeat their first round victory over CYO but lost on Wednesday night, 10-1. Jim Millay pitched his first game of the year and limited the Barbers to four hits.

CYO gave Millay flawless support and pounded out eleven hits off two Leo pitchers. Bodor's three hits led the parade. Two of them were triples, while Mayer and L. K. Brodhan hit doubles. O'Hagan homered in the third.

Kouzmanoff's double in the seventh was the only extra-base hit for Leos and drove in their one run.

George Milligan's two home runs and a single led Heidorns to a 13-3 win over Creamery Package on Thursday night. Charlie Nick got a triple and Urik two doubles.

Jiran hit a home run and a single to drive in all of the Creamery runs, and to get half of his teams hits.

Urik and Nick pitched for Heidorns, giving only four hits, and two walks and striking out five men.

The game enabled Heidorns to finish the second round in a tie for fourth place with CYO.

CYO lost on Friday night, 4-2, in a previously rained-out game with Bensenville, which had been postponed from July 22. Iroquois thus took over third place back of Gaures and Benjamin Electric.

Details of this game are not available, not having been kept in the regular score-book.

The Gaure-Iroquois game, scheduled for Monday night of last week, was rained out and set for Sunday, August 17. Gaures needed a win in this game as Benjamin Electric lay only one game back with their schedule finished.

The Studebakers won 9-2 in extra innings, scoring seven runs in

Caddy-member golf tournament at Rolling Green

The annual caddy-member golf tournament at Rolling Green Country club is always an eagerly awaited day by both members and caddies, and this year's event proved no exception. Tuesday afternoon some 170 members and caddies teed off in two ball foursomes, playing selective drives and alternate shots.

Winners of the low gross for the day were caddy Boots McDougal and Mr. John Minton with a 79.

A few of the low net scores were: Caddy Harry Smart and Mr. Jim Hedger, with a score of 80-10-70. Caddy Marvin Kamps and Mr. H. R. Jacobsen with a score of 94-24-70.

Caddy Billy Griffith and Mr. Vartan with a score of 98-26-72. Caddy Donald Hamburg and Mr. G. B. Henry with a score of 94-21-73.

Caddy Billy Gates and Mr. Paul Cockrell with a score of 99-16-73. Caddy Silver Johnson and Mr. Bob Lutton, the club champion, with a score of 94-21-73.

Caddy Marvin Russell and Mr. Howard Willis with a score of 87-14-73.

Following play the boys were served a wonderful dinner by Mrs. Minnie Stiff, stewardess of the club. After dinner the prizes were presented by Professional Pat MacDonald and caddy master, Art Goetz. The prizes were numerous and were presented both for scores and as door prizes. In addition to many cash awards, there were 20 gift certificates presented, a set of steel shafted wood clubs, 2 dozen golf balls, a dozen sweaters, two dozen shirts, and many other worthwhile prizes. A very valuable prize was an aviator's wrist watch which was drawn by Richard Bokelman. This $80.00 watch, which had flown some 875,000 miles, had been presented to Mr. John Minton by an American Airlines pilot, and Mr. Minton donated it as a prize for this occasion.

After dinner the caddies put on an amateur show of songs and acts. It was a day long to be remembered by all those who participated as an event of good fun and fine fellowship and sportsmanship.

a big rally in the eighth. Eddie Bublit and Art Wolf furnished the power which punched the decisive runs across the plate.

Each lead-off man scored in the first inning as each team made two hits. Gaures were the first to score again, getting a run in the third on a dropped fly-ball in left field and a throwing error at first base.

Iroquois tied the score a second time in the fourth on Kvevil's homer.

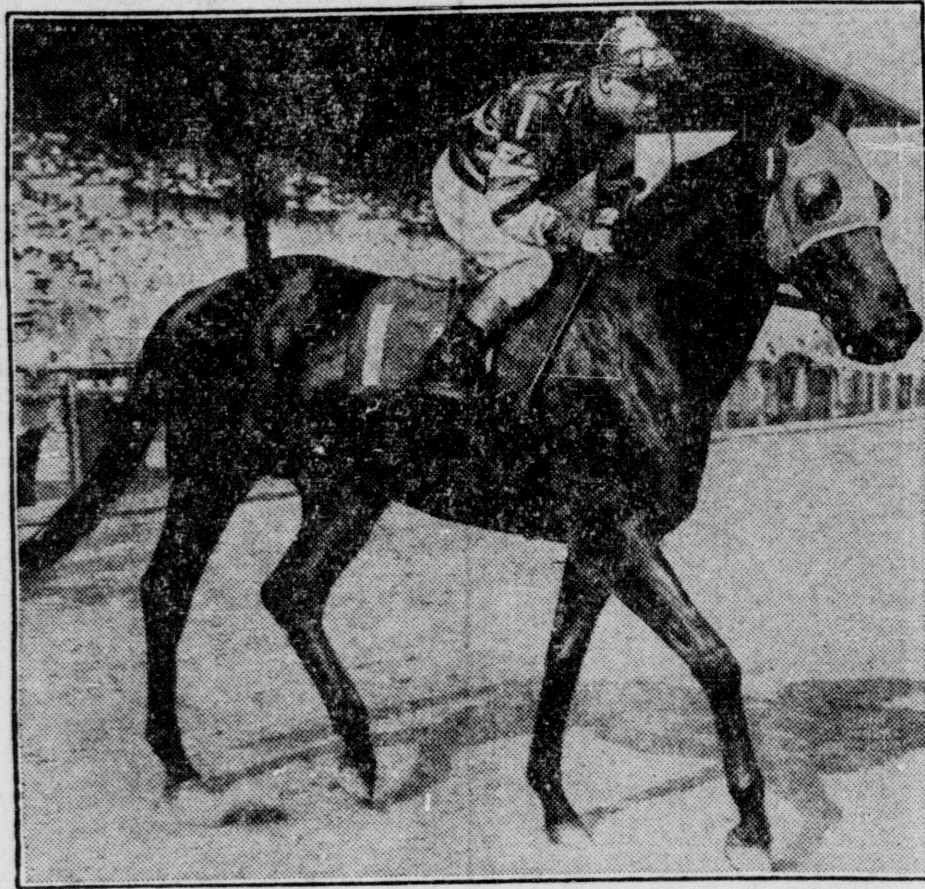

Gaures had two hits in the fifth with none out but failed to score when Art Wolf was cut down at the plate after Garms fled out. Again in the sixth there were two on and two out but Bublit fled out.

A single and a sacrifice put Weisberger on second in the seventh but he remained there at the end of the inning. Then came the big eighth.

Iroquois had a man on second in the fifth on a single and a wild pitch but a strike-out and a fly-ball ended the threat. In the seventh Geils singled with two out and Davis was thrown out by Garms.

Eickelman pitched the major part of the ball game under a severe handicap, having sprained his ankle in the first inning while being forced out at second base. He tired from the strain of throwing while having to favor the ankle. In the eighth a walk and another out-field error with one out put him in

An American Derby Threat

This is Bushwacker, brilliant three-year-old colt owned by R. W. McIlvaine of Chicago, is now rounding into grand form for the $60,000 American Derby at Washington Park on Saturday, August 23. The Whirlaways and other thoroughbred luminaries that seek the pot of gold at Washington Park may find Bushwacker the horse they will have to beat. The colt ran second to Misty Isle in the Sheridan Handicap at the Homewood course and forced Misty Isle to a new track record of 1:49.3/5, for a mile and one-eighth. Bushwacker, like Whirlaway, is a strong finisher.

Jalopy winner loses most of car; Palatine man is third

After winning five consecutive feature races and six elimination heats on the Griswold Bowl oval at Wauconda since the Fourth of July, Leonard Kranz of Arlington Heights lost the big race of the afternoon last Sunday by coming across the finish line in fourth place.

The upset took place in one of the wildest races ever witnessed in this part of the state. The winner, Peevew Hauth, one of North Chicago's leading jalopy speedsters, drove the last two laps with part of the car body dragging on the track, and as he crossed the wire, it fell off leaving him hanging onto the steering wheel without a seat beneath him.

Second place was taken by Hap Kelder of Crystal Lake who pressed Hauth for the first spot throughout the race but could not pass the fast Bristol special. The real fireworks occurred in the fight for third and fourth place. The driving became so rough that track officials disqualified a potential second or third place driver whose violations were too flagrant to pass unnoticed. Following the disqualification, Harold Kuhl of Palatine finished ahead of Kranz to take third place money.

After the event had been run, a free-for-all scramble held the attention of the spectators. To settle the issue Kranz and Walkanoff agreed to race in a grudge event on the Wauconda track Labor Day, the next racing date at Griswold Bowl.

The special novelty event, a reverse race, was won by Bill Barnett of Des Plaines who proved to the crowd that he can handle a racing car going in either direction. The backwards event was a three lap affair, the first lap in reverse, the second forwards, and the final lap in reverse.

The first and second place drivers in the elimination heats were Kranz and Kelder, first heat; Henry Finkler, Jr., Chicago and Art McKivvers, McHenry, second heat; Art Dittmann, Elgin, and Frank Veath, Chicago, third heat; Al Walkanoff, North Chicago, and Kuhl, fourth heat; and Les Witt, McHenry, and Hauth, consolation heat.

a hole.

Sadecky loaded the bases with an infield single and Ditchman forced in a run in five pitches. Bublit drove a sharp grounder through the box and Kvevil made a great try for it but it went through for two bases, driving in two more runs. Four runs came in on another error, Wolf's single, and a force-out.

Iroquois had a man on base in their half of the eighth on their first pass of the game, but Kinnman struck out to end the ball game.

Gaures made nine hits with Sadecky and Wolf getting two each. Four of the Studebakers walked and three survived on errors.

Iroquois had seven hits and one walk. They hit in six of the eight innings and only once got two blows in the same frame.

Each pitcher struck out five men and each pitcher got the other on strikes once during the game.

MUSIC NEWS AND VIEWS

by E. D. HERRICK

For the third consecutive year I am sponsoring a picnic for my pupils, their friends and relatives; and you are invited to attend, too. Instead of having it at Deer Grove as in previous years it will be held in Rand Park, Des Plaines on Sunday, August 24; so many pupils wanted to swim or play tennis that I decided to try this change.

The picnic will be held, rain or shine. There will be a special get-together at the picnic dinner which will be held on the base ball field (or in the field house if it rains); the afternoon will be devoted to swimming, tennis or watching the baseball games, as you prefer; around 5:00 p. m. if enough are interested there will be a Honolulu Studio baseball game; after that will come the popular treasure hunt for pupils only (but everyone has fun watching them hunt); then a picnic supper and finally an informal musical program by students in the field house, starting around 7:00 or 7:30. Come out and spend the day if you can, but if you can't do that come out for part of the day anyway.

One job which most teachers have (and this is particularly irksome to me) is the task of lining up pupils for the winter months after school starts and getting them worked in on the day and at the time when they would like to take. It's a real job for any teacher and you can help a great deal by telling the teacher ahead of time when you'd like to have your lesson. This is particularly important if you are going to start again after having stopped for the summer. As far as I am concerned, those that let me know ahead of time get the time they want wherever possible and the rest have to take where I have the time available. Help your teacher plan his schedule with a minimum of work and worry.

Tam O'Shanter to hold benefit golf tourney

The United Service Organization and the British War Relief Fund will divide the net profits of the $11,000 Tam O'Shanter Open Golf tournament, George S. May, president of the host club, revealed this week.

May expects the tournament, America's richest golf classic, will draw a record throng for Chicago meets, since the $11,000 purse will attract the best of the country's golf players. The meet will be held on the sporty and picturesque northwest side course on September 4, 5, 6 and 7. Qualifying play will be held on Tuesday, September 2.

"The meet will serve two purposes," May said. "It will provide Chicago golf fans with another opportunity to see the greatest golfers in action under inducements which will inspire the best golf they are capable of, while at the same time these golf fans will be contributing to very worthy causes. All of us are anxious to help the U.S.O. and the British War Relief fund and the Tam O'Shanter meet will allow us to doubly enjoy our interest in these fine efforts."

Although the entry list for the Tam O'Shanter meet is not at all complete, May stated that he has assurances that such stars as Ben Hogan, Craig Wood, Sam Snead, Ralph Guldahl, Vic Ghezzi, Lawson Little, Jimmy Hines, Byron Nelson, Johnny Bulla, Johnny Revolta, Dick Metz and all the other top flight pros will tee off in the September classic.

Representing the home club will be Wilford Wehrle, one of the country's outstanding amateurs, whose familiarity with the Tam O'Shanter course should make him a dangerous factor in the 72-hole medal play meet.

Other golfers who have shown a liking for the Tam O'Shanter layout are Dick Metz, who won the Chicago Open in 1940 on the northwest side course, shooting 278, ten under par, and Ben Hogan and Johnny Revolta, who tied for second behind Metz with 289's.

Thirty awards in cash will be distributed among the professionals, with the winner, that is, the top pro, taking away $2,000. An attractive group of prizes will lure the amateurs. Prize money and merchandise awards will be given, also, to top finishing pros and amateurs, respectively, in the qualifying round, an unusual feature of the meet.

Red Wings defeat Half Day

Last Sunday the fans were treated to another good game when the Red Wings beat their neighbors from Half Day by a score of 3-1.

The feature of the game was the pitching and timely hitting of Geo. Schaefer.

The contest was a nip and tuck affair from the first inning on and there were plenty of good catches made throughout the entire game.

Next Sunday the Kenosha team will again invade Arlington Heights and this time they intend to win. They will be the 4th of July defeat handed them, 6-3, by our boys. Come out and see a good game every Sunday. Be a Red Wing Booster.

SHORT PUTTS...

By Tommy Kouzmanoff

It seldom happens but it did this time — to pay off on a hole-in-one. John ("Sonny") Rouse, well known Chicago district professional, Old Orchard's club owner Elmer Wickersham, and home pro Ben Riley were stepping up to the 8th tee last Thursday when Rouse in jest asked "Wick" how much he was paying off on hole-in-ones. Wickersham replied that he had never established a definite prize but that he'd give two dollars. After finally talking Wickersham into raising the offer to five dollars Rouse proceeded to hit into a spoon. The ball fairly zoomed over the wide lake that separates the tee from the green. Holding true to its course the pellet landed at about 190 yards, then rolled about thirty-five yards directly towards the flag and then — plunk! In for an ace! Yes, sir. It seldom happens but it did this time — to pay off on a hole-in-one. . . . Sonny Rouse is operating a golf range on the North Side. Sonny's ace at Old Orchard was not his first. He turned the trick once before in 1935 while competing in the Medinah Open. . . . The odds on scoring a hole-in-one? Yes, once in 170,000 rounds. . . . Cyril Wagner, Mohawk's pro for the last two seasons will be right "at home" when he competes in the coming $11,000 Tam O'Shanter Open. Wagner was Tam O'Shanter's tutor for ten years. . . . The much publicized $21,000 championship, a 72-hole event, will be played over Tam O'Shanter September 4, 5, 6 and 7. A special qualifying round is scheduled for September 2.

Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore provide laughs in "Bad Man"

Wallace Beery, "best caballerito in all the West," rides to thrills, adventure and laughs, in "The Bad Man," film transcription of the famous New York stage play showing at the Palatine Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

As Pancho Lopez, whimsical bandit, he sets out to straighten the tangled lives of a group of "tenderfeet," with thrilling, dramatic and comical results, while Lionel Barrymore, as the grizzled old rancher he can't scare, provides laughs galore by his antics.

The second feature on this bill is entitled "In Nobody's Sweetheart Now." It has plenty of comedy and action starring Helen Parrish and Dennis O'Keefe.

"A Woman's Face"

Thrills, excitement and stark drama mingle with heart-interest in "A Woman's Face," story of a woman turned criminal through ugliness, who works out her regeneration with a new-found beauty. Starring Joan Crawford and Melvyn Douglas, with Conrad Veidt in a powerful supporting role, the picture comes next Wednesday for 4 days to the Palatine Theatre.

Miss Crawford plays the scarred woman, enemy of mankind, restored to beauty by Douglas' plastic surgery, but the slave of a criminal madman, played by Veidt.
